

“I think we have a promising future, I believe it has been spoken very much in black and white about Las Hurdes and it’s time to talk in color”

company and we are going to create forty jobs. For the unemployment matter it is important because there are families who have come from other places of the country who are suffering now. People in the villages are a bit self sufficient with its garden, its olives, its fruit... they are more or less self-sufficient, but those who have come lately... well, we are there, helping as we can, with the Food Bank... and we will be overcome, we expect to go forward.

I think we have a promising future, I believe it has been spoken very much in black and white about Las Hurdes and it’s time to talk in color.

-Do you think it has been positive all that has been said about the region, good or bad?

-Yes, I think so. Here there has always been the endless discussion of whether Buñuel yes or no, and we